J. L. HARMAN ADDRESSES CHAPEL

Education And Its Tendencies Is Subject For Forthcoming Speech
By President of Business University.

President J. L. Harman, of the Bowling Green Business University, came in chapel on April 17, what was universally conceded to be one of the best chapel talks heard this semester, or for that matter, this year. He based his talk on Education, giving the course of its remarks the opinions of eminent men on modern education and its tendencies. He reviewed his remarks by saying that there are two types of people, those that think originally and those that think secondarily. He said that the first type is the one that is the real requisite of an educated man or woman, according to Mr. Harman, our lives must be an ability to think along original lines and reach a conclusion. Industry is also a primary asset, and culture is necessary to be truly educated. All these things, he continued, go to make up personality, a thing which no man has successfully defined, but which all great characters must have. In addition to all these a man to be truly educated must be patriotic and have the ability to enjoy himself.

Mr. Harman then outlined the ideas of Dr. Mullins, head of the Louisville Theological Seminary and of Baptists all over the world, as set forth in an address on "The Tendencies in Modern Education." Dr. Mullins considered as his point the teaching of two major things, the much attention being given to the technical phase of education as the exposure of the fundamentals, and the disturbing tendency in modern higher education to dispute everything and accept nothing. As good point Mr. Harman enumerated the following: helping to adjust to the modern life, the great possibilities of vocational education, and the tendencies in modern governmental activities. He related the story of the answer given by the head of the Argentine Republic when asked what was the chief reason for the difference in progress between North and South America. The answer was: "South America was settled by Spaniards in search of gold, while North America was settled by Christians in search of God." He emphasized the point of the motive as regards to the adjustment afforded by education to modern life and showed wherein that adjustment occurs.

Mr. Harman read the definition of education as given by President Macdonald, of the British Empire which was based and confirmed his remarks with the definition as given by the Dean of Christ College, England. This Dean considered the first purpose to enable one to read the Scriptures. The second, to be able to see things that could not be seen by a third and last to be able to get ahead of your fellow man.

Which one of these roads will you follow? was the poignant thought that Mr. Harman left with us in closing.

The next issue of Teachers College Heights will be devoted to the summer school. It is now on the press and will be ready for distribution at the K. E. A. It will announce a great educational program for the summer school of two or three weeks which began on June 1. Be sure to get your copy.

SUMMER SCHOOL

What will the Summer School mean to you? If you expect to teach next year or later, attendance here for either one or both of the six week terms during the Summer Session will be decidedly to your interest.

First, because you can SEE EXPERT TEACHING.

Second, because you will be High of the Training School and in the Model Rural School.

Third, you will have the opportunity to do professional work required of those who expect to apply for admission to the county examination.

Fourth, most County Superintendents allow an INCREASE in Salary for teachers attending at Summer School.

Many County Superintendents have already signified their intention of attending the first term and will bring their entire staff of teachers with them.

The Summer School number of Teachers College Heights will come from the press this week. BE SURE TO GET YOUR COPY.

HERALD STAFF AT SCHOOL IN LOUISVILLE

Staff of College Heights Herald Will Spend Friday At The Plant of The Courier and Times, Learning the Fine Points of Newspaper Mechanics.

Mr. Anderson has arranged, through the courtesy of the management of The Louisville Courier-Journal and Times, to have the staff of the Herald spend Friday at the plant of these two newspapers.

An instructor will be furnished in each department, and the members of the staff will be shown the various details which are involved in getting out a metropolitan newspaper.

Each member of the staff will have an opportunity for practical experience and will be allowed to actually perform some of the work in the various phases of the publication of Friday's Times.

THE EXTENSION DEPARTMENT

Helpful and strong sources in the high school and college world will be offered by this department to students and teachers, unable to take residence work. Recently lessons in a number of advanced subjects in the senior college field, giving credit for the degree, have been prepared for correspondence study.

Those desiring to make high school or college credit during the summer vacation, by correspondence should write to W. M. Pearce for further information.

NOTICE

Those who have not submitted a copy of their constitution and a statement of the aims of the organization to the faculty for approval, are requested to do so at the earliest possible date.

TEACHERS PROGRAM BROADCAST

The Courier-Journal And Times Station Will Broadcast Western's Program Friday Afternoon, April 24.

On Friday afternoon at four o'clock, April 24, the Music Department, under the direction of Professor Strahm and Miss Wilson, will give a radio program over the Louisville W. H. A. S. The program will consist of vocal numbers, numbers from the A Capella Chorus and the Male Chorus, and a piano solo by Professor Strahm. The A Capella Chorus is indeed an innovation in the Music Department. It is a chorus consisting of both male and female voices with no accompaniment. Despite the fact that it is a young organization, it is doing splendid work. It will be a special feature of the May Festival, which is but a few weeks distant.

The program is as follows:

1. A Capella chorus;
2. A beautiful, Saxon-Selkirk Melody;
3. Where We've Trud—Barth; Miss Louise Wilson, Director;
4. Vocal Solo;
5. Miss Sadie Birk Perkins;
6. Male Chorus;
7. Hunting Song, H. Pypis Trail;
8. Vocal Solo;
9. Mr. Ralph Allison;
10. Piano Solo;
11. Kentucky State National March;
12. Mr. Strahm.

MODEL RURAL SCHOOL

Rural Demonstration School In Charge of Miss Ethel Clark Is Showing Remarkable Results.

Our Rural Demonstration School is just off the campus on the College farm. It was planned by Dr. P. H. Drexler of Kentucky College and is modern in heating, lighting, plumbing, ventilation and space. It has a four-acre campus, which is made attractive by twenty trees and a well-kept lawn. The school building is made of stone that came out of the basement in the excavation. This we try to teach the lesson of "what you have at hand in your community building."

Miss Ethel Clark, the demonstrator, is a graduate of Peabody and Chicago University. She is an expert both in management and teaching in a one-teacher school. Forty pupils are enrolled this year and they are on time regularly, which is a matter to be stressed more in our rural schools. During this term there have been twenty-three practice teachers and two hundred and fifty visitors.

Besides this, three thousand people see the school every year and get some inspiration for better country schools. Miss Clark has also organized a Rural Teachers Association with every member.

The pupils in the school come from a country district nearby, and are typical country boys and girls. They like the school and do all they can to help make it beautiful and in every way a model.

The school will be in session during the summer school so that all county superintendents and rural teachers may have an opportunity to see its work. At all times we attempt to do just those things which can be done over the state if the people will take hold and do their best.

ANNUAL MUSIC FESTIVAL TO BE HELD IN AUDITORIUM ON COLLEGE HEIGHTS MAY 7-8.

Prof. Strahm Has Been Holding Rehearsals For The Past Two Months And One of The Most Elaborate and Extensive Programs Ever Attempted Is Result.

SOLOISTS OF NATIONAL REPUTATION

A Capella Chorus And Oratorio To Be The Big Local Features: Both Certified Will Mean Over Three Hundred Voices.

One of the many outstanding features of our institution is the annual Music Festival. This great event will take place May 7 and 8. Mr. Strahm, the Director, and his chorus have been working hard for months to make the occasion a great success. It is no easy matter to train a chorus of 200 voices to give a standard Oratorio like "Eli," but the same splendid tradition that has characterized past performances may be expected in this difficult composition by Coult. The entire school is giving the Festival most loyal support.

To mention the details of the three great programs would require too much space, so we will mention some of the most important numbers.

Besides the Oratorio "Eli," which will be given the first night, the Matinee program will have several numbers by the A Capella Chorus, under the direction of Miss Wilson; Mrs. Nell G. Travelstead will present the Training School in a beautiful cantata entitled "Snow White," which is very difficult for young people, and real like Abt's cantata in manner, but everybody has heard her sing. Travelstead has had the children's chorus and a greater success is predicted for her this year.

The Soloists are: Floride Wells, Soprano, Metropolitan Opera Co., N. Y.; Esther

UNIVERSITY KENTUCKY VISITOR

Dean Boyd Visits Teachers College And Inspiring Address At Chapel.

An interesting inspiring, and instructive lecture was delivered April 13 at chapel period by Dean Boyd, President of the University of Kentucky. The theme of his lecture centered around the subject of "Progress." Though the subject included human activities of all ages and created a response of thought. He himself, his subject is a stiff and exact manner.

Dean Boyd said that progress depends upon three things: the fighting, running, or hitting characteristics of man. Some nations or societies survive and progress by fighting an issue of ideas others survive by running or retreating an issue. His idea of progress is, it seems, based upon the theory of the survival of the fittest. In a minute way he showed instances in history where each of these principles has applied.

Dr. Boyd has been dean of the College of Arts and Sciences of the University of Kentucky since 1917. He received his Doctor's Degree at Cornell University in 1905. A few years previous to this time he was actively engaged in the teaching of mathematics. Later he received national honors as a mathematician. He has published several books, one of which is an analysis geometry written in collaboration with Davis and Ross.

MUSIC CLUB RENDERS PROGRAM

Strahm Music Club Meets in Business Followed by Elaborate Musical Program.

The Strahm Music Club met Wednesday night, April 15, at a short business session was held before the program during which the constitution was adopted. The following program was rendered:

1. Vocal Solo: (a) Night Wind; (b) Elsie-Masson;
2. Piano Solo: Snake Chorus; Bartlett, Mrs. Adams;
3. Violin Solo: Souvenir de Wisconsin; Horde, Miss Elizabeth Vaughn;
4. Vocal Solo: Trail Mate; Mr. White;
5. Piano Solo: (a) Spores; (b) American Polka; Carpenter, Miss Mary Baker Jones;
6. Talk on Orchestra and Oratorio; Miss Olivia Kirby.

The discussion on the orchestra was illustrated by pictures of the various instruments of the orchestra so as to acquaint one with the orchestra.

The musical numbers were well rendered and given exceedingly well. The Music Club so far indicates a brilliant success.

K. E. A. FEATURE

Teachers, principals, and superintendents everywhere are coming more and more to realize the importance of the library in a school community. Books are the chief tools through which boys and girls acquire their education. Realizing the importance of the school library and the interest now being shown in it, the officers of the K. E. A. have this year arranged for a session for the discussion of problems connected with the organization and management of the library in the school. An interesting program has been arranged and will be held on Friday morning, April 24, at 9:30 in the Supply School Room of the First Christian Church on Fourth Street.

Miss Marjorie Bertram had visitors during the Easter vacation.

OUR ADVERTISING

This issue of the Herald came from the press several days ahead of the regular date on account of the meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association which opens in Louisville Wednesday, April 22.

The entire faculty and the majority of the student body will attend the meeting. A special train will leave Bowling Green Friday morning.

The editorial staff know that everyone intending to make the trip to Louisville would do so a small bit of shopping for the trip. This fact prompted the early printing of the paper as a service which it felt was due subscribers to the advertising columns.

The staff admonishes the faculty and students to read carefully the advertising columns before doing your shopping and take advantage of the bargains which you find offered. The Herald has been magnanimously supported by its advertisers and it is the duty of its readers to support them when making their purchases.

WELL, THEN YOU SAW IT IN THE COLLEGE HEIGHTS HERALD.

LIBRARY EFFECTS CHANGE

Modus Operandi of Entering And Leaving Library Is Changed.

Early visitors to the library on Monday, April 6, presented astonished faces. Over the week-end a rearrangement of desks and tables had been made. The new arrangement of having the desk directly in front of the door seems very practicable. Traffic signs of "In" direct the incoming students to the right and "Out" point the way to the outgoing, so that we follow regular American traffic rules in keeping always to the right, and thus avoid congestion. The outgoing students are asked to hold their books in full view so that the librarian at the desk may be able to see what books each student is taking out and not have to ask and see. If the students will cooperate in extending their books, much time will be saved both the students and the librarian. We trust that the new arrangement will prove helpful to all.

The College Heights Herald is pleased to learn that the Teachers College will have a large Life class graduating class this year. The class is made up of strong men and women who have already had successful experience. The prospect of the graduating class of 1926 is equally bright as that of the present year.

The President's office would appreciate hearing from all persons desiring to finish a College course and secure a degree. Life graduates are especially invited to correspond.

There will be many readers of this paper who come under these classifications.

Why can't you come now and make your arrangements to be a member of the Teachers College graduating class of 1926?

Mr. C. W. Green, who has been constructive work in the field, is back in school.

The Wayside Gardens Co. of Mentor Ohio, one of the outstanding firms of the United States has just contributed to the Western Kentucky Teachers College a large bed of Micholmas daisies, better known as hardy asters. They will be a permanent feature of the planting on the campus, as these flowers are perennial. They will be planted on the southwest side of Cabell Hall directly against the grey stone walls of the house and will be known as the Mentor beds.

This firm, which makes a specialty of perennial plants, has also generously contributed a dozen or more of their finest and rarest English delphiniums which will be given a prominent place in the spring planting.

WESTERN'S QUARTERS AT K. E. A.

Headquarters Will Be On The Mezzanine Floor of the Seelbach Hotel. Special Train and Get-Together Meeting.

The Western Normal and Teachers College will have headquarters on the mezzanine floor of the Seelbach Hotel, Louisville, during the session of the K. E. A. which meets April 21-25, 1925. The institution will open headquarters on Tuesday morning, April 21, and close on Saturday afternoon, April 25.

The institution urges every former student to be sure to call at headquarters and make himself at home. A most cordial invitation is extended to everybody and especially former students.

The annual Get-Together Meeting of all students of the Western Normal and Teachers College will take place Friday afternoon from 2:30 to 7:30 in the auditorium of the Seelbach Hotel. A banquet of seven or eight hundred plates will be served for $1.00 per plate. Every former student is not only asked but urged to be present at this banquet. All who desire to be present, should send $1.00 at the earliest possible moment to Miss Florence Schneider, Western Normal and Teachers College, Bowling Green, Kentucky. This should be done at once, as several hundred have already indicated their purpose to be present. It is earnestly desired to make this banquet one of the outstanding experiences in the life of College Heights.

It is especially hoped that the predominant characteristic of the meeting and the banquet will be that of spontaneity and warmth which flow from good fellowship and a unity of ideals. There will be no formal program. Everybody is on the program and a minute speech is the limit.

We earnestly urge that every former student tell other former students about the Get-Together Meeting and the Banquet and urge them to be present. The forthcoming meeting is going to be, without question, the greatest in the history of the institution.

A special train will be run to Louisville by the L. & N. for the benefit of the families and students of the Western Normal and Teachers College. A very low rate has been secured. The train will leave Bowling Green at 5:30 a.m. April 22, and return same time Saturday night. The number of students who will attend the K. E. A. this year, according to present signs, eclipse all previous records. We hope you are making your arrangements to be there.

WE WILL MEET YOU AT THE HEADQUARTERS OF THE INSTITUTION ON THE MEZZANINE FLOOR OF THE SEELBACH DURING THE SESSION OF THE KENTUCKY EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION.

WE WILL LOOK FOR YOU AT THE BIG GET-TOGETHER MEETING AT THE BANQUET IN THE AUDITORIUM OF THE SEELBACH FROM 4:30 TO 7:30 FRIDAY, APRIL 24.

Member of Life Class.

Miss Bernadette Paxton will be a member of the Life Class this year. Miss Paxton has been teaching at Goodnight, Kentucky. She has entered school for the last nine weeks of this semester.

MANUAL ARTS IS GAINING PROMNENCE

Manual Training Department With Enlarged Course of Study And New Equipment Is Attracting Many Students.

One of the outstanding features of the Manual Arts is that of providing for individual differences. These differences exist in so many different ways that of necessity any institution or department which attempts to provide for them undertakes an enormous task. There are differences in physical characteristics, in race, in sex, in intelligence, in home environment and in ideals. So great are the differences and so inseparable do they seem, in some respects, that the schoolman plans to adapt the organization of the school to meet their demands is almost discouraged at the complexity of his problem before even attempting its solution.

And yet the Manual Arts has, in a modest measure at least, succeeded in making a step toward the solution of some of the problems arising from facts of individual differences. Wherever success has come, it has come through a recognition of this principle: Equality of opportunity for different individuals demands that they shall be given different opportunities.

A great many institutions and departments serve their knowledge in such a way as to be available for some of the party, while others must be content with such portions as might come their way by mere chance. Little respect is given to so evident a condition of individual differences. They seem to say by their manner and actions, "The school is here for those who wish to come." In fact they think it their duty to force all to come that they may be educated. Apparently they have adopted the crude method of Procrustes, who with brutal humor made sure that all who slept in his bed should be of a proper size, and who accordingly lopped off feet and legs of those who were too long and stretched on the stocks those who were too short.

The Manual Arts is built around the belief that whether or not all men are created equal it is an axiomatic fact that they are not alike. It attempts to teach pupils to do better those desirable activities which they will do any way and to teach those activities by means of material in itself worth while, as well as to reveal higher types of activities to make them both desirable and to an extent possible. Hundreds will become laboring men and never grace the presidential chair while they watch their classmates slide down the oily path into the senate chamber.

Keeping in mind the above statements, our Manual Arts department, under the direction of L. T. Smith, has made itself known in this school and has proven to be of great economic as well as educational value to the school.

Shortly after the organization of the department in this school there was organized a class for school repair work. The work of this class was so effective and so efficiently carried out that it was recognized as a necessity to the school. At the same time it enabled a number of students to remain in school who would have otherwise been forced to return to the work from which they came and never have the opportunity or pleasure of drinking at the fountain of knowledge.

Soon after the organization of this class the students, under the direction of the instructor, almost automatically shifted to the work for which they were best fitted. Some turned to concrete work, and as a result seats were made and placed about the grounds, flower boxes were built to beautify the windows, while bird baths were constructed to refresh our feathered friends during the hot weather. Others turned to pipe fitting and created the Training School play ground equipment which was recently torn down to make place for the new Training School building, which is now under construction.

From time to time other small jobs of plumbing have been taken care of as a memorial to the cabinet working group. The laboratory and a part of the shop equipment and tools and well-topped desks are found in class rooms and this equipment is a necessity, and at the same time it adds beauty to the class rooms and office, along with conveniences to teachers, students, and office workers. The carpenters, painters and repair workers constructed the tool shed at the back, a part of the poultry plant, the new Manual Arts shop, the building of new and repairing of old outbuildings in the Village, the construction of the pavilion in front of Potter College, the partition in the large dining room, the back boards in the gymnasium, and the erection of the flag pole and basketball equipment at the Rural School. The repairing of the porch at Potter College, the reworking of Frisley and Bailey Hall, the painting of its inside walls of the dormitories and of the eaves of all windows, and the repainting of doors, window sashes, locks, and screens is also a very important item.

Not less electricity being neglected, for shortly after the opening of the new shop it was entirely reworked to meet the demands of the students. The last organization was that of metal work which has been a recent addition, and it has already proven worthy of its place by the reworking of spraying material and of a line spreader which was considered useless but is now in a first class condition. The class for the past semester has been under the direction of C. B. Barnes, one of our A. B. students of this year's Senior Class.

All of the above work is done by the labor of students who receive a small amount for each hour's work. This enables the students to remain in school, and at the same time it has saved the institution several thousands of dollars. The money received by these students flows back to the school through the commissary and the bookstore and for board and incidental fees. It is a small part of the total, but it is a part which is sure to be needed in later life.

Some of the future work of this class has already been established, and before the Summer School has closed in all probability there will have been installed a new hot water system in the dormitory, a new for the class rooms and a new for the new Training School building. In fact all the small construction work is in care of the Manual

All colleges require their students to meet certain standards which they say it them for life's work and which prepare them to instruct the childhood of our land, but none require a course where individual differences, appreciation, and ability to do and save is so thoroughly taught as does the Manual Arts. If teachers were required to take a course in this department, it would mean better homes, better farms, better school buildings and equipment, healthier children and of necessity better education and citizenship. Manual Arts leads to the highest development of the constructive instinct which has made possible the civilization of which we now so proudly boast. It is the medium through which the child and the man learn their constructive blocks from the cradle to the grave.

PAUL WHITEMAN COMING
(We print below a clipping from a current number of The Billboard about Paul Whiteman and his orchestra. This orchestra has been looked by Will Hill as a feature of the All-Star Concert beginning next fall. Editor.)

New York, March 23.—Negotiations have been practically completed for the appearance of Paul Whiteman and his concert orchestra of 25 men at the Keith-Albee Hippodrome at a salary of $7,000 per week. The engagement is to start during the last two weeks in May, when Whiteman will complete his concert tour and will be back in New York. It will be for an indefinite period.

This is the highest salary ever paid to an artist by the Keith-Albee office. It has been equaled by other artists, but never passed. The first one to ever receive it was the late Mme. Sarah Reinhardt, who was paid that sum for her appearance at Keith's Palace some years ago. The curious part of that contract which is noted by those who claim to be in "the know" was that Reinhardt insisted upon being paid daily at the end of her night performance. It is also said that she demanded the $1,000 paid her each day be in gold.

Whiteman, when last in Louisville, was supposed to be getting $3,500, a sum when he was at the Palace for a run of four weeks. At that time, however, he had 15 men and was also doubling from the Palais Royal.

CHILDREN OF TRAINING SCHOOL

Training School Children Will Have Part In May Festival.

The part which the children of the Training School played in the May Music Festival last year was such a success that it has been decided that they shall appear again this year. And so, on Friday afternoon of the week of the Festival there will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Nell Booth Travelstead, the cantata "Snow White" by Franz Abt. Over a hundred and fifty children of the intermediate grades, the junior high department, and the girls of the senior high will sing with the orchestra.

Great interest is being shown by the youngsters in the cantata, and they are doing some splendid work at rehearsals. There will be several soloists, two of whom have already been selected—Lillian Pickles and Mary Belle Fitch. Others will be chosen later.

The public is urged to be present on Friday afternoon during the May Festival and enjoy this program which Mrs. Travelstead has in store for it.

MRS. ROY MAYHEW, BRIDE OF A WEEK, DEAD.

Mrs. Roy Mayhew, bride of a week, died suddenly April 15 at a hospital in Nashville, owing to a vital attack of heart disease. She was formerly Miss Helen Cameron, a student in the Western Kentucky State Teachers College and about two weeks ago was married to Mr. Roy Mayhew, a former student of W. K. S. N. and proprietor of the U-Driveli Company. They went to Nashville on their bridal trip.

While they were at their hotel Mrs. Mayhew was suddenly taken violently ill, and was immediately rushed to the hospital, where she survived but a short time.

Her death is attributed to a blood clot on the heart.

Miss Cameron was a member of the Degree Class of this year. She was a beautiful, high-type young woman, and loved by everyone that knew or came in contact with her. The Senior Class and the student body as a whole feel that they have lost one of the best and most loyal students of its number. We all mourn Miss Cameron's death on Mr. Mayhew's account.

POWER

PROGRESS IN KENTUCKY

Where you have plenty of electric power you will have progress—natural resources developed, better schools and roads, a higher standard of living.

Great reservoirs of electric power have been created by the Kentucky Utilities Company and its subsidiaries in southeastern, central and western Kentucky. Nearly 1,000 miles of transmission line connect steam generating plants near coal mines and the Dix river hydro-electric plant now almost ready for operation.

One hundred and four communities, big and little, receive power from these reservoirs, which also have been tapped by some 200 industrial concerns—mines, quarries, factories, railroad shops, yards, pumping stations—and by many farms.

The larger towns get better service, which attracts new manufacturing enterprises and stimulates business. Villages enjoy conveniences and comforts unheard of outside of big cities a few years ago. Industries discard steam power, enlarge operations, employ more help. Farmers and housewives are relieved of much drudgery, find time for recreation.

Where you see the towers and transmission lines of the Kentucky Utilities Company and its subsidiaries as you travel about the State, you see beacons of progress set up by an organization that is doing its full share in the economic development of Kentucky.

NEW CLUB IS ENTERTAINED BY MR. SMITH
Administrative Club Meets at Home of Prof. Bert Smith. Delightful program is rendered. Dr. Gamble Speaks.

On Thursday evening, April 9, the Administrative Club met with their faculty sponsor, Mr. Bert R. Smith, at his home, 1415 Chestnut Street.

In spite of the inclement weather outside, the club spent a very enjoyable evening as well as a very profitable evening.

The following program was rendered:

Roll Call—Answered by a statement of the advantages of a degree for an administrator, or a statement from a book on Administration.

The Value of the Survey—by the Administrator—Henry Clay and Raymond Vincent.

Address—Dr. C. C. Gamble.

Remarks—Mr. Bert R. Smith, Sponsor.

Dr. Gamble very ably discussed "Research" under the following divisions: 1. Statement of the problem. 2. Definition and formulation of the problem. 3. Suggestion of possible solution. 4. Development by positive thinking of bearing of data, etc. 5. Further observation and experimentation. 6. Conclusion, publicity, etc.

He said in part, "There must be a definite uncertainty in what is said. You must know what the problem is and see that you have available time, sufficient numbers, necessity of data, proper bodies and co-workers, and be sure that the problem is worth while."

Dr. Gamble very thoroughly discussed the following questions: What are the causes? What are the factors involved? Are the elements independent, constant, and equal? Can the essential elements be separated? He advised the use of measurement of central tendency, variability, standard deviation, coefficient of correlation, probable error, skewness, and curve fitting. This analysis rendered it possible to check the accuracy of the field work.

Under the methods for securing information, he depicted the long questionnaire in which the data must be laboriously gathered and sorted by the use of which the questionnaire is addressed. He said, "Make the questions in such a way that they may be answered by yes or no and by checking in. Put together things to be closely related and double check all data for accuracy."

In conclusion, Dr. Gamble said, "No survey could be worth much without consistent conclusions, so written that their truth may be readily seen and made public in such a way as to reach the attention of those for whom designed."

The business session ended with some remarks by the sponsor, what the public demands of administrators.

Following the business meeting came a social hour that will long be remembered by the members of the club. First, Mrs. Smith led the club in many pleasant and laughable games, appropriate prizes being offered to the winners.

A delightful surprise came when a beautiful birthday cake decorated with forty-fused tapers was presented. Mr. Smith. An ice cream was served, and the social hour was thoroughly enjoyed.

Personal Department In Receipt of Interesting Letter
Jannett, Ky., April 9, 1925.

Mr. W. J. Craig,
Head Personnel Department,
W. K. S. N.,
Bowling Green, Ky.

Dear Sir:
I am glad to inform you that I have offered teaching positions for next year to Willie Sue Newton, Alberta Newton and Mair Map.

As we already have, and probably will keep, the two Dublin twins, the two Delta sisters and Emily Hogue, we shall have a pretty high quota of the Western.

Normal people that are all making good.

Yours very truly,
I. B. STEPHAN,
Supt. of Schools

Miss Prentice has been ill with scarlet fever, but she has about recovered from her illness and will be back in school in a few days.
